

87.1349. a. 30
2
An Account of the

T R Y A L

O F

^k
Richard Lyddel, Esq;

At His MAJESTY'S COURT of

COMMON-PLEAS,

Before the Right Honourable

Lord - Chief - Justice E Y R E,

F O R

Carrying on a Criminal Conversation with the late Lady ABERGAVENNY;

O N

Monday the 16th of February, 17²⁹₃₀.

L O N D O N :

Printed for A. MOORE, near St. Paul's, and Sold by the Bookfellers of London and Westminster. 1730. Price Six Pence.

A N

Account of the Tryal of Richard Lyddel, Esq; &c.

THE Jury being sworn to try the Issue between the Right Honourable the Lord Abergavenny, Plaintiff, and Richard Lyddel, Esq; Defendant, upon an Action of Trespass; for that he the said Richard Lyddel, did carry on a criminal Correspondence with the Plaintiff's Lady, by which Means he did debauch, carnally know, and committed Adultery with her, to the great Loss, Disappointment, and Uneasiness of the Plaintiff.

The Council for the Plaintiff, after having learnedly opened the Circumstances of the Offence, and peculiar Aggravations attending it, with Regard to the Defendant, proceeded to call in the Witnesses, who deposed as followeth.

The First Evidence that was called to prove the Charge against the Defendant was Elizabeth Hopping: She depos'd, That she lived in his Lordship's Family for six Years, and about three Weeks before Christmas was Twelve-month, the Family being at Sheffield House, his Lordship's Country Seat, took Notice of Mr. Lyddel's frequently kissing her Lady in the Dressing Room, thought the Familiarity was too great betwixt them, and unbecoming, gave Occasion to her to watch their Conversation; that she had seen her Lady's Bed tumbled after it had been made, when none but Mr. Lyddel and her Lady had been in the Room: That another Time knowing them to have been in the Dining Room, below Stairs, about nine in the Morning, was willing to see what they were doing, and placing herself in the Withdrawing Room, she look'd through the Key-hole into the Parlour, and opposite to the Place where she stood, she saw her Lady against the Door that went into the Hall, and Mr. Lyddel against her, that she saw her Lady's Petticoats up as high as her Gartering-Place, and that he had unbuttoned his Coat, but could not see his Breeches down, because his Coat behind covered them; that she saw him do something that a Man ought not to do: Being ask'd, What she thought he was doing; Reply'd, She thought he had a criminal Conversation with her Lady, and being surpriz'd, she looked a second Time, when she then saw them in the same Posture: And that then, as soon as she could get out, she went and acquainted one of her Fellow Servants, which was the Laundry Maid, that she had seen her Lady with Mr. Lyddel against her, with her Petticoats up, and told her, she thought he was debauching her Lady. Being ask'd whether she thought they were in criminal Conversation together both the Times? She said, she believed they were; that they were standing against the Door, which kept it shut, for it opened into the Room, and was not fastened.

Being

Being ask'd, What was the Ground of her Suspicion? She reply'd, she saw him often kiss her in her Bed-Chamber, Dining-Room, and Dressing-Room. Being ask'd, How Mr. Lyddel was received by his Lordship when he came there? She replied, His Lordship always received him very joyfully; that Mr. Lyddel came very often, and staid there sometimes a Week together, and that it was frequent he staid there so long, that he lived from his Lordship's House about seven Miles. She being ask'd, Why she did not acquaint her Lord with it? Reply'd, she thought her Lord would not believe it, but that she told her Fellow-Servant, Elizabeth Letchmere, and that she told no other Servant of it. Being ask'd, How it came to pass when she saw so notorious a Fact, that she did not discover it presently to her Lord? Replied, that no Person dare open such a Thing to his Lordship, that it was discovered by her, but not 'till her Lord asked her about it. Being asked, Whether there was any Key in the Key-hole of the Lock that she peeped through, or any other Covering to it within side? Replied, there was not, neither was there any Thing to hinder her from locking. Being ask'd, Whether the Door she look'd through was lock'd? Replied, that she knew nothing of that, but the Key was out, for they had been cleaning the Locks.

The next was Elizabeth Letchmere, who depos'd, That her Fellow-Servant came to her, and told her, three Weeks before Christmas was Twelve-Month, that her Mistress was a Devil; that she asked her the Reason, she then told her she looked through the Key-hole and saw her against the Door in the Parlour with her Petticoats up, and Mr. Lyddel before her, that this was about nine in the Morning. Being asked, Whether she discovered it to any Body? Replied, she told only Mr. Osbourn of it.

----- Pinches depos'd, That the Observation she made, was when Mr. Lyddel came to her Lady, about a Twelve-Month ago; her Lady gave her Orders to go out of the Room when Mr. Lyddel came; that the Bed was unmade when he came, and when she went up to make it, she found the Door was lock'd, that when her Lady gave her Notice of it once or twice she kept out of the Way. Being asked, Whether it was usual for her to leave the Room when Visitors came to her Lady? She replied, that she never did when she was making the Bed; and that Visitors never came into her Lady's Chamber, but into the Dressing Room. Being further ask'd, Whether, when her Lord was at home, she never saw my Lord and Mr. Lyddel in my Lady's Chamber together? Replied, she never knew them together there.

Mary Hodson depos'd, That she lived two Years and two Months with the Lord Abergavenny in Town and Country both, and served in the Family as a Laundry Maid; that as she hath stood at her Window, which faces her Lady's Dressing-Room, she hath seen Mr. Lyddel take her Lady by the Pinnars and kissed her, that when he had pull'd her Lady away, the Window-Shutters were one quarter or half shut too; that she hath observed this several Times, taking her mostly by the Pinnars, and kissing her; that she saw this very plainly, the Shutters were shut more than once, even several Times. Being asked, How long after he hath kissed her Lady, that she hath observed the Window-Shutters to be put too? Replied, about a quarter of an Hour. Being asked, Whether these Observations were made in Town? She reply'd, yes; the Building of the Laundry is a back Building cross the Gravel Court, right against her Lady's Dressing-Room.

William Smith depos'd, That he was Porter to my Lord Abergavenny, and that he was ordered by his Lady, whenever Mr. Lyddel came to admit him, that she would not be at home when Mr. Lyddel was there, but when Mr. Lyddel was gone his Lady would be at home to any Body that came; that Mr. Lyddel was always admitted, and that was his Direction. That when Mr. Lyddel hath been at his Lordship's, his Lordship and he have gone out together, and he hath returned again before him, and gone to the Apartment of his Lady. That Mr. Lyddel and a Gentleman have dined together with his Lady, went out together, and Mr. Lyddel has returned again, and staid with his Lady two Hours; that when he came he used to ask him, whether his Lady was at home; and if the Footman hath been out of the way, he hath waited upon him himself to her Lady's Apartment; that he was always admitted; when his Lord was at home he would go to his Lordship's Apartment, and afterwards from his Lordship's to his Lady's. Being asked, Whether he ever knew him deny'd when his Lord was at home? He reply'd, he never did.

Mr. Matthews being called, was ask'd by the Plaintiff's Council, what Station he was in under the Plaintiff, answered, That he was his Gentleman; and being desired to give an Account to the Court of his seeing Mr. Lyddel and his Lady together in the Room, and what he observed, replied, he had a great many Suspicions of a criminal Correspondence between Mr. Lyddel and his Lady; that he had taken Notice that his Lady would order none to be let in but Mr. Lyddel; that one Evening his Lady said, she would be at home to none but Mr. Lyddel; That he went up and found none but Mr. Lyddel there with his Lady, and only two Candles burning, then he went and brought up two others, that there might be Light

Light in the Room, that when he came to go into the Room the Door was fast; that he heard his Lady run from the Couch to the Fire-side, which is but six Foot, she opened the Door and said, you sling the Door so hard you'll make the Bolt fly; that when he came in he saw Mr. Lyddel upon the Couch, as if he were putting up his Breeches; that he had since flang'd the Door several Times, and found the Bolts not to fly. That when he went into the Country he had several Pair of Leases to engross for his Lord's Tenants; that the Apartment he lay in was under Mr. Lyddel's Room, called the White Room; that one Morning, as he was engrossing of Leases, he heard a Woman coming into that White Room; that he heard the Voice of a Man, and presently heard the White Room Bed crack. This was the first Morning, October the 13th. That he says, he heard a Woman come into the White Room, just over his Head; that he heard the Man, and heard the Bed crack, upon which this Deponent declar'd himself to be in a great Surprise, but was resolved to see who came out; that he went half way up the great Stairs, and saw Mr. Lyddel coming out of his Room, who desired me to call his Servant to him. That running as hard as he could, he met one of his Lord's Servants, and desired him to send Mr. Lyddel's Man up to his Master, after which he went up the Back-Stairs through the Long Gallery, and saw his Lady come out very red, and in Disorder, and thought she had been in Mr. Lyddel's Room. Being asked, whether he afterwards met with her, and in what Room? Reply'd, that the next Morning, th 14th of October, he was then writing as before, and about nine a-Clock he heard a Woman come in after the same Manner, and heard the Step of a Man, and the Bed crack, as the Morning before; then he went up the Back-Stairs, and at the End of his Lord's Gallery he took off his Wig, and laid himself down, that no Body might see him; that he heard the Bolt of Mr. Lyddel's Door open, then he saw Mr. Lyddel come out of his Chamber Door looking about him, and going in, immediately his Lady came out, with her Hands spreading her Petticoats; that there was a Door at the End of the Gallery, from whence he could see all along the Gallery. Being asked, whether from that Place where he was he could hear the Door open? He reply'd, that he heard the Door unbolted, and he saw Mr. Lyddel come out of his Room, and presently after he went in, and his Lady came out holding her Petticoats on each Side, but when he saw her he got up with a Book in his Hand, as waiting his Lord's getting up in the Morning, which was his known Practice; that then his Lady went into her own Dressing-Room. Being asked, whether his Lady came out while Mr. Lyddel was at the Door? He reply'd, that he went in first, and then his Lady came out. Being ask'd why she held her Petticoats after such a Manner? Reply'd, because Mr. Nevell, that was in a Room hard by, should not hear the rustling of her Silks. The next Day, being Wednesday, this Deponent was from Home, and could make no Observation. That on Thursday he was in his Room, and heard the same Noise in the White Room, after the same Manner as he had done before. In the Afternoon of the same Day he acquainted Mr. Osman, his Lord's Steward, for he said he could not bear to see his Lord injured after such a Manner. He was asked, whether Mr. Lyddel came out of the Door and look'd about him this Time, as he had done on the Tuesday before? He reply'd, that he did, and that his Lady came out as before, but whether she went into the Nursery or into his Lord's Apartment he was not certain. That on Friday, as he was writing again, he prevailed with Mr. Osman to be present with him, and when they were together, he ask'd Mr. Osman whether he did not hear some Body come in? He said, yes; and in a little Time they heard the Bed crack; that this Deponent said to Mr. Osman, in a little Time you'll hear the Bolt of the Door make a Noise, and so it happened, for they being at the Bottom of the great Stairs; Mr. Osman told him he heard it very plain, and saw the Lady come out of Mr. Lyddel's Room, with her Petticoats held up by her Hand as she used to do, to prevent the Gentleman that lodged by her from hearing her. That Saturday Morning was the same Thing; that this Deponent and Mr. Osman heard and saw as before. Being asked, what Method he took in order to have it discovered? Replied, that he discoursed with Mr. Osman, and they consulted together what Method they should take, that several Mornings they had had those Consultations; further, that he acquainted Mr. Day with it. It being ask'd, what Conclusion they came to? He reply'd, it was agreed upon that their Lord should know of it some way or other, they propos'd the Discovery should be made by his Lordship's Mother, but she was under a great deal of Concern about it, and desired some Body else might do it; that then they thought no Person so proper as Mr. Day to do it, who is a Neighbour and Relation of his Lordship's. Mr. Day accepting of the Proposal did communicate it. Being ask'd, when it was communicated to my Lord, what Answer did he give of what his Lordship would do? He reply'd, that Mr. Day told him, that his Lordship was willing that we should surprize him in the very Act. He gave this Direction to Mr. Day and Mr. Osman. The Method that we took was, that Mr. Day, Mr. Osman and myself were to conceal our selves in a Closet, adjoining to the Room where Mr. Lyddel lay, and on the

Being ask'd, What was the Ground of her Suspicion? She reply'd, she saw him often kiss her in her Bed-Chamber, Dining-Room, and Dressing-Room. Being ask'd, How Mr. Lyddel was received by his Lordship when he came there? She replied, His Lordship always received him very joyfully; that Mr. Lyddel came very often, and staid there sometimes a Week together, and that it was frequent he staid there so long, that he lived from his Lordship's House about seven Miles. She being ask'd, Why she did not acquaint her Lord with it? Reply'd, she thought her Lord would not believe it, but that she told her Fellow-Servant, Elizabeth Letchmere, and that she told no other Servant of it. Being ask'd, How it came to pass when she saw so notorious a Fact, that she did not discover it presently to her Lord? Replied, that no Person dare open such a Thing to his Lordship, that it was discovered by her, but not 'till her Lord asked her about it. Being asked, Whether there was any Key in the Key-hole of the Lock that she peeped through, or any other Covering to it within side? Replied, there was not, neither was there any Thing to hinder her from locking. Being ask'd, Whether the Door she look'd through was lock'd? Replied, that she knew nothing of that, but the Key was out, for they had been cleaning the Locks.

The next was Elizabeth Letchmere, who depos'd, That her Fellow-Servant came to her, and told her, three Weeks before Christmas was Twelve-Month, that her Mistress was a Devil; that she asked her the Reason, she then told her she looked through the Key-hole and saw her against the Door in the Parlour with her Petticoats up, and Mr. Lyddel before her, that this was about nine in the Morning. Being asked, Whether she discovered it to any Body? Replied, she told only Mr. Osbourn of it.

----- Pinches depos'd, That the Observation she made, was when Mr. Lyddel came to her Lady, about a Twelve-Month ago; her Lady gave her Orders to go out of the Room when Mr. Lyddel came; that the Bed was unmade when he came, and when she went up to make it, she found the Door was lock'd, that when her Lady gave her Notice of it once or twice she kept out of the Way. Being asked, Whether it was usual for her to leave the Room when Visitors came to her Lady? She replied, that she never did when she was making the Bed; and that Visitors never came into her Lady's Chamber, but into the Dressing Room. Being further ask'd, Whether, when her Lord was at home, she never saw my Lord and Mr. Lyddel in my Lady's Chamber together? Replied, she never knew them together there.

Mary Hodson depos'd, That she lived two Years and two Months with the Lord Abergavenny in Town and Country both, and served in the Family as a Laundry Maid; that as she hath stood at her Window, which faces her Lady's Dressing-Room, she hath seen Mr. Lyddel take her Lady by the Pinnars and kissed her, that when he had pull'd her Lady away, the Window-Shutters were one quarter or half shut too; that she hath observed this several Times, taking her mostly by the Pinnars, and kissing her; that she saw this very plainly, the Shutters were shut more than once, even several Times. Being asked, How long after he hath kissed her Lady, that she hath observed the Window-Shutters to be put too? Replied, about a quarter of an Hour. Being asked, Whether these Observations were made in Town? She reply'd, yes; the Building of the Laundry is a back Building cross the Gravel Court, right against her Lady's Dressing-Room.

William Smith depos'd, That he was Porter to my Lord Abergavenny, and that he was ordered by his Lady, whenever Mr. Lyddel came to admit him, that she would not be at home when Mr. Lyddel was there, but when Mr. Lyddel was gone his Lady would be at home to any Body that came; that Mr. Lyddel was always admitted, and that was his Direction. That when Mr. Lyddel hath been at his Lordship's, his Lordship and he have gone out together, and he hath returned again before him, and gone to the Apartment of his Lady. That Mr. Lyddel and a Gentleman have dined together with his Lady, went out together, and Mr. Lyddel has returned again, and staid with his Lady two Hours; that when he came he used to ask him, whether his Lady was at home; and if the Footman hath been out of the way, he hath waited upon him himself to her Lady's Apartment; that he was always admitted; when his Lord was at home he would go to his Lordship's Apartment, and afterwards from his Lordship's to his Lady's. Being asked, Whether he ever knew him deny'd when his Lord was at home? He reply'd, he never did.

Mr. Matthews being called, was ask'd by the Plaintiff's Council, what Station he was in under the Plaintiff, answered, That he was his Gentleman; and being desired to give an Account to the Court of his seeing Mr. Lyddel and his Lady together in the Room, and what he observed, replied, he had a great many Suspicions of a criminal Correspondence between Mr. Lyddel and his Lady; that he had taken Notice that his Lady would order none to be let in but Mr. Lyddel; that one Evening his Lady said, she would be at home to none but Mr. Lyddel; That he went up and found none but Mr. Lyddel there with his Lady, and only two Candles burning, then he went and brought up two others, that there might be Light

Light in the Room, that when he came to go into the Room the Door was fast; that he heard his Lady run from the Couch to the Fire-side, which is but six Foot, she opened the Door and said, you fling the Door so hard you'll make the Bolt fly; that when he came in he saw Mr. Lyddel upon the Couch, as if he were putting up his Breeches; that he had since flang'd the Door several Times, and found the Bolts not to fly. That when he went into the Country he had several Pair of Leases to engross for his Lord's Tenants; that the Apartment he lay in was under Mr. Lyddel's Room, called the White Room; that one Morning, as he was engrossing of Leases, he heard a Woman coming into that White Room; that he heard the Voice of a Man, and presently heard the White Room Bed crack. This was the first Morning, October the 13th. That he says, he heard a Woman come into the White Room, just over his Head; that he heard the Man, and heard the Bed crack, upon which this Deponent declar'd himself to be in a great Surprize, but was resolv'd to see who came out; that he went half way up the great Stairs, and saw Mr. Lyddel coming out of his Room, who desired me to call his Servant to him. That running as hard as he could, he met one of his Lord's Servants, and desired him to send Mr. Lyddel's Man up to his Master, after which he went up the Back-Stairs through the Long Gallery, and saw his Lady come out very red, and in Disorder, and thought she had been in Mr. Lyddel's Room. Being asked, whether he afterwards met with her, and in what Room? Reply'd, that the next Morning, th 14th of October, he was then writing as before, and about nine a-Clock he heard a Woman come in after the same Manner, and heard the Step of a Man, and the Bed crack, as the Morning before; then he went up the Back-Stairs, and at the End of his Lord's Gallery he took off his Wig, and laid himself down, that no Body might see him; that he heard the Bolt of Mr. Lyddel's Door open, then he saw Mr. Lyddel come out of his Chamber Door looking about him, and going in, immediately his Lady came out, with her Hands spreading her Petticoats; that there was a Door at the End of the Gallery, from whence he could see all along the Gallery. Being asked, whether from that Place where he was he could hear the Door open? He reply'd, that he heard the Door unbolted, and he saw Mr. Lyddel come out of his Room, and presently after he went in, and his Lady came out holding her Petticoats on each Side, but when he saw her he got up with a Book in his Hand, as waiting his Lord's getting up in the Morning, which was his known Practice; that then his Lady went into her own Dressing-Room. Being asked, whether his Lady came out while Mr. Lyddel was at the Door? He reply'd, that he went in first, and then his Lady came out. Being ask'd why she held her Petticoats after such a Manner? Reply'd, because Mr. Nevell, that was in a Room hard by, should not hear the rustling of her Silks. The next Day, being Wednesday, this Deponent was from Home, and could make no Observation. That on Thursday he was in his Room, and heard the same Noise in the White Room, after the same Manner as he had done before. In the Afternoon of the same Day he acquainted Mr. Osman, his Lord's Steward, for he said he could not bear to see his Lord injured after such a Manner. He was asked, whether Mr. Lyddel came out of the Door and look'd about him this Time, as he had done on the Tuesday before? He reply'd, that he did, and that his Lady came out as before, but whether she went into the Nursery or into his Lord's Apartment he was not certain. That on Friday, as he was writing again, he prevailed with Mr. Osman to be present with him, and when they were together, he ask'd Mr. Osman whether he did not hear some Body come in? He said, yes; and in a little Time they heard the Bed crack; that this Deponent said to Mr. Osman, in a little Time you'll hear the Bolt of the Door make a Noise, and so it happened, for they being at the Bottom of the great Stairs; Mr. Osman told him he heard it very plain, and saw the Lady come out of Mr. Lyddel's Room, with her Petticoats held up by her Hand as she used to do, to prevent the Gentleman that lodged by her from hearing her. That Saturday Morning was the same Thing; that this Deponent and Mr. Osman heard and saw as before. Being asked, what Method he took in order to have it discovered? Replied, that he discoursed with Mr. Osman, and they consulted together what Method they should take, that several Mornings they had had those Consultations; further, that he acquainted Mr. Day with it. It being ask'd, what Conclusion they came to? He reply'd, it was agreed upon that their Lord should know of it some way or other, they propos'd the Discovery should be made by his Lordship's Mother, but she was under a great deal of Concern about it, and desired some Body else might do it; that then they thought no Person so proper as Mr. Day to do it, who is a Neighbour and Relation of his Lordship's. Mr. Day accepting of the Proposal did communicate it. Being ask'd, when it was communicated to my Lord, what Answer did he give of what his Lordship would do? He reply'd, that Mr. Day told him, that his Lordship was willing that we should surprize him in the very Act. He gave this Direction to Mr. Day and Mr. Osman. The Method that we took was, that Mr. Day, Mr. Osman and myself were to conceal our selves in a Closet, adjoining to the Room where Mr. Lyddel lay, and on the 8th of November last, about six in the Morning, we all placed our selves there; that they staid there till about nine, at which Time her Ladyship came into Mr. Lyddel's Room, went round it, and was heard to say with a low Voice, I cannot stay with you now; upon which Mr. Day and Mr. Osman thinking her gone were for going away, but this Deponent acquainting them that she was not, prevailed with them to stay, and he listning very close heard a Noise, upon which they all went together into the Chamber, and coming softly to the Bed-side withdrew the Curtains, upon which Mr. Lyddel cry'd out, O God! That this Deponent saw her Ladyship in a very indecent Posture, and in a very great Surprize she said, Dear Matthews do not ruin me; upon which he said he was very sorry for what was done, she repeated again, Do not ruin me; he told her that he was sent by his Lord's Direction, and that he must be true to his Lord. That Mr. Lyddel in his Surprize seem'd not to have heard what was said, and therefore cry'd out, What do you say? This Deponent answered him, Sir, I thought you could not have been guilty of so foul an Act. And Mr. Osman saying to him, For you, Sir, to come so frequently, in such a Shew of Friendship, and to wrong his Lordship after such a Manner as you have done, is a Crime for which you can make him no Satisfaction; that Mr. Lyddel replyed, it is very true, I can make no Satisfaction. Then he said, he would take Horse and ride away, and never return to his Lordship's House any more. Then Mr. Osman said to him, it was his Lordship's Direction that he should be kept there. This Deponent being ask'd, what Room this was in? Reply'd, that it was Mr. Lyddel's Room; that they lay cross the Bed when they opened the Curtains. Being asked, how many Days Mr. Lyddel was at his Lordship's at this Time? He reply'd, that he came the 7th of November. Being asked, who he received his Instructions from; He reply'd, from Mr. Day and Mr. Osman, and that his Lordship in his Instructions said to them when he went to Bed, Be sure when you come into the Room; and if you find my Wife there, I desire she may be used tenderly; that this was over Night, and they were taken together at nine a-Clock the next Day. Being ask'd, what Directions his Lordship gave with respect to Mr. Lyddel? Reply'd, That in case we take them together in the Manner we found them, that then I should come to Town, and give Orders to Mr. Staples to proceed against him according to Law. Being ask'd, what was to be done with Mr. Lyddel in the mean while? Reply'd, That his Lordship gave Directions to secure him in the House till further Orders. This Deponent being asked, whether he went to London after this? Replied, yes, and went to Mr. Staples, and made Affidavit of what he saw, upon which there was a Procefs taken out, which this Deponent delivered to the Sheriff's Bayliff, and was executed on Monday Morning; that then he supposes he was carry'd away to the County Jail. Being asked, what Orders were given about his Lady's going? He replied, that he had no Orders about her, but she went away on the Saturday after the Discovery, very big with Child.

Mr. Osman depos'd, That Mr. Matthews came to him and expressed himself much concerned, with Relation to the Intimacies he had observed betwixt Mr. Lyddel and his Lady, and said, that Mr. Lyddel had abused his Lord, by lying with his Lady; and gave this Deponent several Instances of it, as of his lighting Mr. Lyddel up into his Lady's Apartment, and finding but two Candles he went down for two more, and returning found the Door fast, and knocking at the Door, heard his Lady go from the Couch to the Fire-side, that when his Lady had opened the Door she chid him for knocking so hard, that he then saw Mr. Lyddel with his Hands in the Folds of his Clothes, and believed he was putting up his Breeches: This was the 12th of October. On the 13th of October, as he was sitting in his Room engrossing of Leases, he heard the Tread of a Man, then the Tread of a Woman, and in a little Time after heard the Bed crack, and being willing to be better satisfy'd, he went out of his Room, and went up the great Stairs, and when he was half way up, Mr. Lyddel came out of his Chamber, and ordered him to call his Man to him, but meeting with one of his Fellow-Servants delivered the Message to him, afterwards he took to a back Pair of Stairs, and met his Lady just against the Nursery Room, & the back Part of the Gallery, in very great Disorder, and that he believed she had been in Mr. Lyddel's Room. This Deponent further says, that Mr. Matthews told him, that (the next Day being Wednesday he was out of the way) on Thursday Morning Mr. Lyddel and his Lady had the same Conversation as before; then Mr. Matthews desired this Deponent, that he would be with him the next Morning, being Friday, accordingly he went to Mr. Matthews's Room in the Morning, and had not been there long but he heard a softly Tread coming out of the Green Room into Mr. Lyddel's Bed-Chamber, and in a little Time he heard the Bed crack pretty often; that Mr. Matthews carry'd this Deponent to the Bottom of the great Stairs, where he heard the Door unbolt, and Mr. Lyddel step out, as he supposed, to see whether all was clear, and after he was gone in, the Lady came out with her Petticoats up, which he supposed was to keep them from rustling, there being a Gentleman lying in a Room on the other Side of the Gallery, at the Top of the great Stairs. This Deponent further her said, that he heard the same on Saturday Morning as he had done before; that he was very much concerned and surprized at the Observation of these Passages, and to find his Lord abused after so gross a Manner, for he believed, that his Lordship was as tender a Husband, and had as great a Value for his wife as any Person in the world, and that none could be more fond; and though they knew it would be a great Affliction to their Lord, were notwithstanding resolv'd to acquaint him with it, for they could have no Peace in their own Consciences while they kept it as a Secret from him; to which End Mr. Day was acquainted with it, he accepted of the Office, and acquainted his Lordship with it on the sixth of November last, after this Manner; "He desired his Lordship would be pleased to walk in the Fields with him, for he had something to communicate to him, but his Lordship being very pressing to know what it was, Mr. Day opened it to him; his Lordship was extremely concerned that his Friend had done such a Thing, and said, He could not have done so to him." Then his Lordship gave Directions to make Discovery, which was after this Manner: we proposed early the next Morning to go into a Closet that joined to the Room where Mr. Lyddel lay, which we accordingly did; that this Deponent being placed against the Closet Door could see the Room, and had such a Command of it that no Body could go in or come out but what he must see; that a little after eight a-Clock Mr. Lyddel's Man went into the Room, and as he was coming out, his Master being in Bed, says to him, Are your Razors ready, for I shall shave my self by and by? Then the Man went out of the Room, and at nine a-Clock his Lady came along the Gallery to Mr. Lyddel's Door, and entered the Chamber; that he saw her through the Key-hole, when she came against it she made a Stop, and then went to Mr. Lyddel's Bed-side, and said something to him; then she returned, which made this Deponent conclude she was gone quite away, likewise Mr. Day said she was gone, but Mr. Matthews was of another Mind, and went and opened Mr. Lyddel's Door, and slept to the Bed and undrew the Curtains of the Bed-side, and said, So then! the Lady was lying upon her Back a-cross the Bed, and her Clothes by that Time this Deponent came was down to her Knees, that he saw her Legs; and that Mr. Lyddel had nothing but his Shirt on; that she used several Expreffions in great Surprize, and said, I shall be ruined, but we told her we were there by his Lordship's Direction; that Mr. Lyddel raised himself up and said, What is the Matter? I have heard nothing you have said, Then this Deponent said, We come to observe the vile Treatment you have used towards my Lord, and for this you can never give his Lordship Satisfaction. He said, It is very true, I'll take my Horse and go away, and never return more; upon which this Deponent said, You had as good stay while you are here, Being desired to give an Account of the Friendship which was between his Lordship and Mr. Lyddel, he said, that the Friendship was very great, that his Lordship always received Mr. Lyddel with a great deal of Pleasure and Satisfaction, that there was as good a Provision made for him by his Lordship, as for any Body that came to his House, that it was his Opinion that his Lordship's Secrets were communicated to him, and that he never knew of greater Friendship and Intimacy than there was betwixt his Lordship and Mr. Lyddel. Being asked, when her Ladyship went away after the Discovery? He reply'd, She went away at three a-Clock the Day of Discovery, by his Lordship's Order, to General Tatton her Father.

Mr. James depos'd, That at the Desire of the Lady, he went into Mr. Lyddel's Room on Saturday Morning, on the 8th of November last, after the Discovery was made, that when he came into the Room he found Mr. Lyddel in a great Confusion and Disorder, saying, I am a vile Wretch; for God's Sake do not speak to me; for God's Sake do not speak to me.

Mr. Day depos'd, That he was his Lordship's Steward, and took Care of his Estates in several Counties, that he observed the Intimacy between his Lord and Mr. Lyddel, and in his Esteem his Lordship was the greatest Friend Mr. Lyddel had in the world, that there was as intire a Friendship betwixt them as ever was amongst Men, and that their mutual Respect for each other was very strong, so that this Deponent was surprized when Mr. Matthews let him into some of the Secrets of his Lady and Mr. Lyddel's Intimacy, the first of which was about the Month of March last; that he could not conceive that Mr. Lyddel would be guilty of so foul a Crime, when he knew the Intimacy that was between his Lord and him; he could not give Credit to those Reports till the Account they gave him of the Observations they made in the five Mornings, that then this Deponent did believe it, and that they fixed upon him to discover it to his Lordship, which he did upon the 6th of November; that he asked his Lordship, Whether, considering the great Affection he had for his Lady, he could bear the Discovery of it? That this Deponent proposed the Method of the Discovery which his Lordship approved of, and what he did was by his Lordship's Orders.

The Council for the Defendant acknowledged, that a Verdict ought to be given against the Defendant, but used divers Arguments for Mitigation of the Damages, as that the Damages ought to be proportioned to the Circumstances of the Person offending, that it lies before before the Jury, to give more or less, according to Circumstances. That the Defendant's Estate is only an Estate for Life, and under great Incumbrances. Another Argument was offered, that this Action was not laid for an Assault in debauching the Plaintiff's Lady, but for destroying the Health, Satisfaction and Comfort of the Plaintiff, that from the Time the Fact was committed to the Time of her Death, was so short, that the Injury his Lordship sustain'd in his Health could not be very great. Another Argument was the Lady's coming into Mr. Lyddel's Chamber, by which Means she became a Temptation to him, and was a Temptation hard to be resisted; That this Fact between Mr. Liddel and the Lady might have been as well prevented as discovered, if they had thought fit, but that it seem'd as if an Agreement was made to lay a Snare and Temptation to draw him into a Criminal Action. Another Argument is, that his present Affliction is a great Punishment to him, and that even the witnesses for the Plaintiff say, that he thought himself the most miserable wretch living, and if so, then what must his Affliction be now, that he ought to be considered as a very unfortunate and unhappy Person, upon which Account there is no Reason to charge much Damages, as to be the total Ruin of him who is miserable enough already.

There were several Lords and Gentlemen appear'd to his Reputation, who gave him the Character of a very civil, modest, well-bred Gentleman, and could never have thought he would have been guilty of any Thing of this Nature. There were several Mortgage Deeds produced in Court, upon the Estate of the Defendant, amounting to 11000 l.

The Council for the Plaintiff in their Reply urged, That the Damage ought not to be calculated from the Time the Fact was committed to his Lady's Death, the Consideration of the Damages ought to regard Futurity; that when once the Ties of mutual Love is broken, it can never be repaired; and if they had not been detected they might have gone on with Impunity. As to the Plea made Use of, that his Estate is not capable of paying large Damages, a Case was mentioned of a Footman for the like Crime, who was fined 5000 l. for it is but reasonable, if a Person destroys the Happiness of another his Happiness ought to be disturbed as long as he lives. There is a standing Law against Adultery, the Adulterers and Adulterer too is to be put to Death. There is nothing here can make Satisfaction but a Pecuniary Punishment.

Upon the whole the Jury withdrew, and after a short Stay brought in their Verdict for the Plaintiff, 10000 l. Damages.

A N
Lady Abbey to her Lord abbot
EPISTLE from CALISTA to ALTAMONT.

O jealous Love, and injur'd Honour's Ear,
What Words can a detected Woman clear?
In guilty Joys discover'd to thy Eye,
To what sad Refuge shall Calista fly?
Thy Rage with bold Defiance shall I meet?
Or fall an humble Suppliant at thy Feet?

No, Altamont! both Methods I disdain;

The first is cruel, and the last is vain:

Th' Insulter o'er thy Woes I scorn to live,

And Thou hast too much Spirit to forgive.

Then, for thy Peace, this only Counsel take;

(The best Attonement that my Guilt can make;)

Think, whilst my Falshood to thy Bed I own,

The hard Misfortune is not thine alone:

Survey the glitt'ring World, and Thousands see

False as Calista; and abus'd as Thee.

Beauty is useless, should it fear to range;

Our Sex's Charter is the Love of Change:

Our Charms more Votaries than one demand,

And loath, like Gold, the griping Miser's Hand.

In Pleasure's Garden, all our Hours are pass'd,

We view the Fruit, and where we like we taste.

On the gay sprightly Fulvia cast thy Eyes,

To Clodius newly join'd in Hymen's Ties:

Thinks she, from thence, her Will the more confirm'd?

Wears she the Nuptial Fetters on her Mind?

To her blind Lord, are all her Bounties shown?

And all her Charms his Property alone?

Unpitied can she hear another sigh?

And think it is her Duty to deny?

If with such vertuous Principles possess'd,

The vain Lorenzo had been still unblest'd.

Let the kind friendly Cauch, and conscious Grove

Attest to Florio Melesinda's Love;

High tho' her Husband, of the noblest Line,

Great, tho' his Fondness-----nay, as strong as thine.

Not all his Merits could confine her Charms,

Or keep the Treasure from another's Arms;

Nay, to so fierce an Height her Flame was grown,

She thought it glorious Pride to have it known.

E'en, when the Grave her Rapture snatch'd away,

And made the Lover its untimely Prey,

Still did the Fondness of her Breast remain,

His dear Idea did she still retain;

To shew, she e'en his Ashes did adore,

Her Grievs were Publick, as her Joys before.

Yet, if the kind Castalia could forgive,

And to his Arms th' unhappy Wife receive,

When eas'd at length by Foreign Air, and Time,

Again she visited her native Clime,

Let him not lessen in the World's Regard,

But his mild Conduct be its own Reward.

But are these all the guilty Truth's are known?

Is it enough I instance these alone?

No, I'll proceed thy Comforter, and shew

The proud admir'd Corinna to thy View,

Before the Jury, to give more or less, according to Circumstances. That the Defendant's Estate is only an Estate for Life, and under great Incumbrances. Another Argument was offered, that this Action was not laid for an Assault in debauching the Plaintiff's Lady, but for destroying the Health, Satisfaction and Comfort of the Plaintiff, that from the Time the Fact was committed to the Time of her Death, was so short, that the Injury his Lordship sustain'd in his Health could not be very great. Another Argument was the Lady's coming into Mr. Lyddel's Chamber, by which Means she became a Temptation to him, and was a Temptation hard to be resisted; That this Fact between Mr. Liddel and the Lady might have been as well prevented as discovered, if they had thought fit, but that it seem'd as if an Agreement was made to lay a Snare and Temptation to draw him into a Criminal Action. Another Argument is, that his present Affliction is a great Punishment to him, and that even the witnesses for the Plaintiff say, that he thought himself the most miserable wretch living, and if so, then what must his Affliction be now, that he ought to be considered as a very unfortunate and unhappy Person, upon which Account there is no Reason to charge much Damages, as to be the total Ruin of him who is miserable enough already.

There were several Lords and Gentlemen appear'd to his Reputation, who gave him the Character of a very civil, modest, well-bred Gentleman, and could never have thought he would have been guilty of any Thing of this Nature. There were several Mortgage Deeds produced in Court, upon the Estate of the Defendant, amounting to 11000 l.

The Council for the Plaintiff in their Reply urged, That the Damage ought not to be calculated from the Time the Fact was committed to his Lady's Death, the Consideration of the Damages ought to regard Futurity; that when once the Ties of mutual Love is broken, it can never be repaired; and if they had not been detected they might have gone on with Impunity. As to the Plea made Use of, that his Estate is not capable of paying large Damages, a Case was mentioned of a Footman for the like Crime, who was fined 5000 l. for it is but reasonable, if a Person destroys the Happiness of another his Happiness ought to be disturbed as long as he lives. There is a standing Law against Adultery, the Adulterers and Adulterer too is to be put to Death. There is nothing here can make Satisfaction but a Pecuniary Punishment.

Upon the whole the Jury withdrew, and after a short Stay brought in their Verdict for the Plaintiff, 10000 l. Damages.

A N
Lady Abbey to her Lord abbot
EPISTLE from CALISTA TO ALTAMONT.

O jealous Love, and injur'd Honour's Ear,
What Words can a detected Woman clear?
In guilty Joys discover'd to thy Eye,
To what sad Refuge shall Calista fly?
Thy Rage with bold Defiance shall I meet?
Or fall an humble Suppliant at thy Feet?

No, Altamont! both Methods I disdain;
The first is cruel, and the last is vain:
Th' Insulter o'er thy Woes I scorn to live,
And Thou hast too much Spirit to forgive.

Then, for thy Peace, this only Counsel take;
(The best Attonement that my Guilt can make;) (The best Attonement that my Guilt can make;)
Think, whilst my Falshood to thy Bed I own,
The hard Misfortune is not thine alone:
Survey the glit'ring World, and Thousands see
False as Calista; and abus'd as Thee.

Beauty is useless, should it fear to range;
Our Sex's Charter is the Love of Change:
Our Charms more Votaries than one demand,
And loath, like Gold, the griping Miser's Hand.
In Pleasure's Garden, all our Hours are pass'd,
We view the Fruit, and where we like we taste.

On the gay sprightly Fulvia cast thy Eyes, (a great lady)
To Clodius newly join'd in Hymen's Ties: (her groom)
Thinks she, from thence, her Will the more confin'd?
Wears she the Nuptial Fetters on her Mind?
To her blind Lord, are all her Bounties shown?
me And all her Charms his Property alone?

Unpitying can she hear another sigh?
And think it is her Duty to deny?

If with such vertuous Principles possess'd,
The vain Lorenzo had been still unblest'd. (the spark)

Let the kind friendly Couch, and conscious Grove
Attest to Florio Melesinda's Love; (Dutchen Montag)
High tho' her Husband, of the noblest Line, (Duke)
Great, tho' his Fondness-----nay, as strong as thine.

Not all his Merits could confine her Charms,
Or keep the Treasure from another's Arms;
Nay, to so fierce an Height her Flame was grown,
She thought it glorious Pride to have it known.

E'en, when the Grave her Rapture snatch'd away, Secretary Croquis
And made the Lover its untimely Prey, when I was Still did the Fondness of her Breast remain,
His dear Idea did she still retain;

To shew, she e'en his Asties did adore, the Mourne for him
Her Grievs were Publick, as her Joys before.
Yet, if the kind Castalia could forgive, (Castalia my orphan)
And to his Arms th' unhappy Wife receive,

When eas'd at length by Foreign Air, and Time,
Again she visited her native Clime,
Let him not lessen in the World's Regard,
But his mild Conduct be its own Reward.

But are these all the guilty Truth's are known?
Is it enough I instance these alone?
No, I'll proceed thy Comforter, and shew
The proud admir'd Corinna to thy View,

Who, high in Rank, as in her Features bright,
Deceiv'd her Husband on her ~~Madding~~ Night;
To bold Rossano sacrific'd her Fame,
And made the Bridal Bed, the Bed of Shame.

Here let me add the Wrongs, and dang'rous Flames
Of other Husbands, and of other Dames,
Who in their Turns have been betray'd like thee,
And from the Faith they swore seduc'd like me.

When her first Lord had scorn'd Pulcheria's Charms,
The Great Alphonsus woo'd her to his Arms,
Bad all his Wealth her Injuries repair,
And in his Palace lodg'd the mourning Fair,
Did this her strongest Gratitude command,
And make her Heart accompany her Hand?
Did she the Duty of a Wife approve?

And meet with equal Joys his generous Love?
No, to politer, freer Maxims bred,

She found no real Transports in his Bed.

Illness oft feign'd, invited Med'cine's Pow'r;

And Physick was her Cry each vap'rish Hour;

This by Great Galen's Hand alone apply'd,

Preserv'd the Patient, till the Husband dy'd;

Which blest Event bad all her Pleasure flow,

And left her Freedom to be sick or no.

And why shall Flavia scape from Censure free,

In the stol'n Joy descry'd as plain as me?

More than myself was she at will to chuse?

Or could her Lover's Rank her Crime excuse?

Tho' rais'd above the common Sons of Earth,

The proudest Titles hail'd him at his Birth.

Would Husbands meet, their Suff'rings to compare,

Hers may with Grounds enough assemble there.

With these Amours of modern Date I end,

And think, tho' Wife no more, I'm yet thy Friend;

But would'st thou more Examples still behold,

Look back thy self to Histories of old,

And Chieftains of the foremost Rank thou'lt find

To their Wives Failings, from strong Reason, blind,

Who scorn'd to give their Hearts a Moment's Pain,

Nor thought another's Crimes their Wreaths could stain.

Shall it not joy thee in that List to see

Cato, the Patron of fair Liberty,

Greatly regardless of his Consort's Face,

Lend her kind Beauties to a Friend's Embrace?

And what opprobrious Tongues shall dare deride

That as thy Scandal, which was Cato's Pride?

Thus far I've labour'd to give Aid to thee;

But Heaven itself denies to succour me;

Let the gay Wantons I've been bold to name,

Triumph o'er Infamy, and conquer Shame,

Not Altamont! is such Calista's Soul,

She knows her late Offence, and knows it foul;

And sure the Woman who her Guilt must own,

And once can need a Pardon, merits none.

Then Altamont! accept this last Adieu!

'Tis fruitless now to wish I had been true;

From the World's Thoughts and thine I haste away,

And bid the Grave receive its willing Prey.

Whilst I'm the Theme of Scoffers, Life's a Pain;

And who did e'er lost Innocence regain?

Death's the best Law to set the Wretched free;

Death shall divorce me from Myself and Thee.

First that
(the present Dutches of Buckingham)
The late Duke of Buckingham

Dr Chamberlain for suppos'd Lascivious
The Doctor

Lady B...

The Romans sent their wives

Lytham